City of Brno

Introduction |

Brno, the Czech Republic's second largest city, has a population of nearly 370,000 people. It lies in the central part of Europe and within a two-hundred-kilometre radius there are other important European capitals: Prague, Vienna and Bratislava. The international airport in Brno offers regular flights.

Brno is Moravian metropolis and a tourists' starting point to come to know the natural and cultural beauties of the Southern Moravia Region. To the north of Brno there is the protected area of the Moravian Karst (Moravský kras) and to the south stretch the Moravian vineyards with their typical wine cellars. The city is surrounded by beautiful mixed forests, which offer many opportunities for hiking and cycling.

Brno prides itself on many notable historical sites that show evidence of its rich cultural history. Once established as a settlement of merchants eight centuries ago at the junction of the rivers Svratka and Svitava, it withstood the pressure of both Hussite and Swedish sieges, witnessed Napoleon's military expedition to Slavkov, bore the cruel consequences of the Austrian defeat at the Battle of the Three Emperors, became an industrial centre of the Habsburg monarchy called "the Austrian Manchester" and, in the twentieth century, took on the character of a modern city thanks to the construction of new buildings in the Functionalist style. The most important example of modern architecture in Brno is the Tugendhat Villa - a site inscribed on UNESCO's World Cultural Heritage List.

Today Brno is the seat of universities and important legal institutions. It offers many possibilities of cultural enjoyment in its numerous theatres, museums, cinemas and clubs. The Brno Exhibition Centre with its eighty-year tradition is the venue of many international trade fairs, exhibitions and congresses, and as such plays a significant role in the social and economic life of the whole city. The City of Brno regularly holds various cultural events and festivals (e.g. "Brno - City in the Centre of Europe" associated with the fireworks competition "Ignis Brunensis") as well as some notable sports events (the Brno Grand Prix for motorbikes). Brno is also a city of modern shopping and entertainment centres.

Historical sites |

A Špilberk Castle

Špilberk 1 | www.spilberk.cz

Royal castle built in the 13th century that was converted during the 17th and 18th century to a Baroque fortress is known as the "jail of nations" for its reputation of the most feared prison in Habsburg monarchy. It is a seat of the Brno Museum, which offers permanent exhibitions concerned with the history of the castle and the city. The visitors are also allowed to take a walk through the casemates - dark grim rooms in the fortifications that used to serve as a recess for the soldiers and later as prison cells for criminals guilty of felony. The castle is surrounded by a spacious park with a number of memorials where the visitors can enjoy a magnificent view of the city.

B Cathedral of St. Peter and Paul

Petrov 1 | www.biskupstvi.cz

Originally a Romanesque basilica built on the top of a hill known as Petrov, later rebuilt in the Gothic style. Its current neo-Gothic form dates back to the turn of the 19th and 20th century. Besides the Baroque interior the public is allowed access to both cathedral towers as well as the crypt. The characteristic shape of the cathedral and the typical silhouette of the Špilberk Castle form the famous Brno skyline. Petrov is a good starting point for a walk leading to the Capuchin Gardens and Denis Park.

C Tugendhat Villa

Černopolní 45 | www.tugendhat-villa.cz

The Tugendhat Villa, built between 1929 - 1930, is a gem of Brno's architectural modernism and world's functionalism. It is the most prominent building designed by the architect Ludwig Mies van der Rohe in Europe. Its importance was recognised in 2001 by its inclusion in the UNESCO's World Heritage Cultural List. The family villa of the Tugendhats is mainly famous for its original space design, unique technological equipment and elegant interiors with precisely defined function for every single piece of its furniture.

D Capuchin crypt

Kapucínské nám. 5 | www.volny.cz/kapucini.brno/

The Baroque crypt is situated under the church of the Capuchin monastery and is open to the public. Since the second half of the 17th century it has been the last-resting place for the monks of the Capuchin order, its patrons and other important personalities including the famous colonel of "Pandurs", baron Trenck. The mummification of the loosely buried bodies is enabled by a unique system of air circulation.

E Old Brno Monastery and Cathedral of the Assumption of Our Lady

Mendlovo nám. 1 | www.opatbrno.cz

The monastery was established as a Cistercian convent by Queen Eliška Rejčka in 1323. In 1783 it became a possession of the Augustinians. One of the order's abbots was Johann Gregor Mendel, the founder of genetics. In 1987 Pope John Paul II elevated the status of the remarkable Gothic Cathedral of the Assumption of Our Lady, which from that time has borne the title "basilica minor". The basilica is the Europe's most southern Gothic building built in bricks.

F St. James' Church | Jakubské nám.

The church ranks among the most valuable examples of the late Gothic architecture in the Czech Republic dating from the turn of the 14th and 15th century. Its ninety-two-meter tall tower is terminated by a characteristic needle-shaped spire. Inside the church there is a tomb of Louis Raduit de Souches, the military commander who was credited with the successful defence of the city against the Swedish besiegement during the Thirty Years' War. An extensive ossuary has been discovered in the ground underneath the church.

G St. Thomas' Church | Moravské nám.

The church was originally a part of the Augustinian monastery founded in the first half of the 14th century by Margrave Jan Jindřich, the brother of the Emperor Charles IV. The whole complex was rebuilt during the 17th and 18th century in the Baroque style. Inside the church there is a copy of the tabular painting depicting Black Virgin Mary, the patron of the City of Brno; the original is kept on a silver altar in the Old Brno Basilica.

H Red Church | Komenského nám.

The neo-Gothic Evangelic cathedral of J. A. Comenius is one of the dominant features of Brno's circle road. It was built between 1863 and 1865 as the first non-Catholic church in this European region, based on a project designed by Heinrich Ferstel, the author of the Votive Cathedral in Vienna. Its name is derived from the red colour of its brickwork.

I Old Town Hall | Radnická ulice

www.ticbrno.cz, www.kultura-brno.cz

The Old Town Hall is the oldest secular building in Brno combining various architectural styles. From the beginning of the 14th century to 1935 it was a seat of the city administration. The stone portal of the Town Hall Tower with its fabled crooked little turret was designed by Anton Pilgram. In the passage of the Tower there is the famous Brno's Dragon and a wheel hanging from the ceiling. The Renaissance gallery of the Town Hall Tower provides an impressive view of the city.

J New Town Hall | Dominikánské nám. 1

Since its completion in the 13th century the former Dominican monastery served the needs of the estates representation. It was here where the provincial assemblies and courts held their sessions. During the 18th century the complex underwent some Baroque alterations. Today the New Town Hall is a seat of the city mayor and the municipal board. The visitors to the complex should not miss the opportunity to see the medieval cloister, historic portals and the prestige rooms.

K Měnin Gate | Měninská 7, www.spilberk.cz

The only preserved old town gate of the medieval fortification. The first documentary evidence of its existence dates back to 1293. Originally, the tower was one storey higher. The gate building dating from the second half of the 16th century hosts exhibitions organised by the Brno Museum.

L Freedom Square | náměstí Svobody

The central Brno's square used to be called the Down Market (Dolní rynek). In the Middle Ages it was lined with houses of the town's most distinguished burghers and Moravian noblemen. The dominant feature of the whole square is the Baroque Plague Column dating back to 1679, which is lavishly decorated with the statues of saints. Equally spectacular is the Renaissance palace with a gallery courtyard - The House of the Lords of Lipá, and the neo-Renaissance Klein's Palace.

M Vegetable Market | Zelný trh

From the time immemorial this place has hosted regular daily fairs where the people come to buy vegetables, fruit, flowers, etc. The hallmark of the place is the Baroque Parnas Fountain built between 1690 and 1695. It symbolizes a cave made of natural boulders decorated by allegoric statues that represent three ancient empires - Babylonia, Persia and Greece. The water to this fountain was supplied by the Brno's oldest pipeline from the river Svratka.

N Reduta Theatre | Zelný trh 4

The oldest theatre building in Central Europe. It is a corner house situated on the Vegetable Market (Zelný trh) which was built at the beginning of the 17th century and later converted to a tavern that served as a meeting point for the wandering theatre societies. The City Council used the place as a venue of various social events and theatre performances. The place saw the first staging of a play in the Czech language in 1767 and in the same year it welcomed the eleven-year-old W. A. Mozart who gave his concert there. Today the building is used by the Brno National Theatre.

P Historic Jewish sights

Synagogue | Skořepka 13

Cemetery | Nezamysova 71, www.zob.cz

Brno's architectural beauty is enhanced by the functionalist synagogue built between 1934 and 1936. Jewish Cemetery, which is one of the biggest in Moravia, is a momentous place of interest. Apart from other, there is a Neo-Romanic ceremonial hall of 1900.

Exhibition centre |

Trade Fairs Brno

Výstaviště 1, phone: +420 541 151 111 | www.bvv.cz

The Brno Exhibition Centre is one of the most elegant exhibition sites in Europe. Although it stretches across an area of 650 thousand square metres it by no means blemishes the beautiful natural environment of the Pisárky valley. The exhibition site was founded in 1928 following the designs produced by the most reputable Czech and Moravian functionalist architects. The unmistakable atmosphere is mainly created by the first of the sixteen pavilions - the unique pavilion A. The other architectural highlights include the forty-five-metre tall tower of pavilion G, the technically perfect dome of pavilion Z and the modern pavilions V and F. The exhibition area also includes the Congress Centre. The exhibition grounds host annually a range of important international trade fairs such as the International Engineering Fair, GO and REGIONTOUR, STYL and KABO, SALIMA, MOBITEK, International Building Fair and INVEX.

Leisure and sport |

Brno reservoir

A popular recreational resort and an ideal place for all kinds of water sports. The banks are lined with sport facilities, restaurants, pubs and kiosks. The regular water transport line serving the route Brno - Veverská Bítýška is in operation every year from May to September (www.dpmb.cz). The visitors coming from the city centre can get to the reservoir by public transport.

Veverí Castle | www.veveri.cz

The second Brno castle soars above the Brno reservoir surrounded by the beautiful nature of the Podkomorské woods. It is a gothic royal castle which was also used as a hunting lodge. The castle was held in possession of various noblemen and its history is interwoven with a number of myths and legends. Today it is a venue of various cultural and social events. At the foot of the castle there is one of the steamboat stops.

Automotodrom | www.brno-circuit.com

Masaryk circuit, which is 5403m long, is situated between the village Ostrovačice and the city part Brno-Zebětín. It was built from 1985 to 1987 in order to replace the original classic city circuit where the races were held from the 1930s. The modern facility has a reputation of one of the world's safest circuits and thanks to its location in the woods it is also said to be one of the world's most beautiful. Brno is a hardly substitutable venue in the calendar of the motorcycling and automobile racing championship events. The most important highlight of each season is the competition of the world championship's series - the Grand Prix of the Czech Republic, which takes place in August.

Brno ZOO | phone: +420 546 432 311 | www.zoobrno.cz

The ZOO stretches across 65 hectares in the city part Brno-Bystrc, near Brno reservoir. There are animals from all continents of the world except the Antarctic. Among the most attractive species kept here are tigers, leopards, Canadian wolves, polar bears, kangaroos, suricates and a rare kind of horses Equus przewalskii. The visitors are also invited to see the animals in the new expositions: Tiger rocks, Tropical kingdom or Children ZOO. Especially in summer, the ZOO holds a range of events both for children and adults.
